How to get to Kansas.

We are daily questioned, orally and in writing, as to the best way to get to Kansas; and in answer to all, we will say that there is but one way: Take the cars here for St. Louis, and there take a steamer—one leaves every day—for the landing in Kansas at which you intend to stop. If you carry any fire arms or boisterative, pack them away in your trunk, lest some over zealous officer of the peace should get a no more dangerous than a trip by rail and lake from here to Buffalo. It would not be advisable for any one to leave here with less than $50 in gold or silver coin; though with prudence and good luck half that amount would take him through. One starving Anti-Slavery optimist with his hat on need not buy them in St. Louis or on the Missouri river, though perhaps as little discretion of the Slavery question as possible, should, from prudential motives, be indulged in. On that matter we learn that the Missourians of the Border Ruffian order are slightly sensitive.

Anti-Nebraska in Wisconsin.

The State Council of K. N.'s, lately in session in Milwaukee, formally repudiated the action of the National Nominating Convention, pitch-ed Fillmore overboard, and nominated N. B. Banks, Jr., as a candidate for the Presidency. At a subsequent session, the Milwaukee delegates were admitted to membership of the Order, and some restrictive and intolerant features were abolished; but in spite of all this, Mr. Banks will not check in Wisconsin friends of the anti-foreign movement who have been deserted upon him. His sympathy with Know-Nothingism long ago gave way to opposition.

Sincerity of Slavery.

The fact that certain journals published in neighboring towns are friendly to Chicago, cozy with many signs of satisfaction the reports of the extending necessity of money and in high praise of Governor Bissell's veto, must in the end bring dark against the man, since the door opened, and in walked the will in perfect health!—Tired of his abuse, she had gone to the post-master, and had left their child under his care, with a warning of the return of her husband the same hate aroused as a witness for him, and produced, of course, much confirmation. The couple were soon more united, and now new living together.

☞ Gen. W. Hoskins, late of the Detroit Advertiser, has become local editor of the Buffalo Express. He is one of the most talented young men in the profession.

DEATHS IN THE CITY OF BUFFALO.—During the last month there have been one hundred and eleven deaths in the city, of which fifty-three were children. Of the entire number, sixty-one were Americans and fifty foreigners.

☞ Rev. Sylvester (Mrs. Partington)—a Boston post, printer, by the way—has become connected with the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

Completion of the Grand Bridge at Rock Island.

This great work, constructed under the auspices of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad, and continued by the joint efforts of that road and the Mississippi and Missouri Railroad, is now completed, and this day the locomotive, for the first time, will cross from the Illinois to the Iowa shore. We congratulate the people of Chicago as well as the people of Central Iowa upon the accomplishment of this union by which their commercial and social destiny become identical forever hereafter.

The foundations on the bridge were commenced by Mr. John Warren, the contractor for the masonry, in November, 1854; but the cold weather which shortly after set in, put a stop to all operations, and it was not until the Spring of 1855 that the work was really begun. Since that time it has, with the exception of a period of interruption caused by a law-suit instituted by the United States Government, progressed rapidly and steadily. We are told that the masonry, for strength and solidity, cannot be excelled; and though no attention has been paid to mere ornamental effect, the symmetry and beauty of the whole is very striking. The nature of the ground—an out-crop of lime rock—has enabled the contractor to put down foundations that will defy frosts and floods as long as rock will endure. In his job Mr. Warren has erected for himself a monument that will outlast the memory of thousands more ambitious and pretentious men.

Since the beginning of the masonry, Messrs. Stone & Boomer, of this city, builders whose reputation is known over the whole West, have been engaged upon the superstructure, and it is the completion of it that we now record. We are assured that they have left nothing undone that could add to the strength, easy working and durability of their job. The plan adopted by them is that invented by Howe, and though it admits of no elaborate ornamentation, the work, from its strength and lightness, its graceful, curved lines and its long stretches of iron, is, we think, when seen at a sufficient distance, a striking object. The speed given to the passage of trains in this bridge has been the building of a "draw" in such a manner, that, while it would offer no impediment to the free navigation of the river, the safe transit of long and heavy trains would be possible. It is believed that a great amount has been accomplished—that no obstruction at all material in its structure has been put in the way of steamers passing up and down, and that no bridge can be safer for the passage of trains. The "draw" rests upon a massive pier of 30 feet diameter at the top, and its entire length is 212 feet in the clear. When open it leaves a space of 127 feet over the main channel, free to boats—"large and large enough" for any vessel afloat. The "draw" is said to be a masterpiece of mechanism, all steam and machinery.

The difficulties which have been encountered in the execution of this great enterprise, have been probably kept from the public so far as possible, by those most concerned in its completion. They have in many States been enormously denied, in others seriously doubted; and have been the occasion of Legislative calculated to bring State and Federal authority into collision. But all these difficulties have been overcome, and we are surprised that a public meeting to celebrate the event should not be held in connection with the opening of the bridge.

The truth is, that, at the season of the year, bilancy never was at cheerfullest before. Never have our merchants been able to collect so rapidly and promptly as now. Never have their customers been so able and willing to pay. Never has confidence been so restored. Never has the money market been so easy. Never have the factories been so active. Never has the iron trade been so prosperous. Never has the lumber trade been so brisk. Never has the coal trade been so active. Never has the provision trade been so lively. Never has the produce trade been so full of business. Never has the commercial interest been so prosperous. Never has the manufacturing interest been so prosperous. Never has the agricultural interest been so prosperous. Never has the mechanical interest been so prosperous. Never has the professional interest been so prosperous. Never has the laboring interest been so prosperous. Never has the capitalist interest been so prosperous. Never has the speculative interest been so prosperous. Never has the banking interest been so prosperous. Never has the railroad interest been so prosperous. Never has the shipping interest been so prosperous

WOOD.—The receipts of wood at this port by vessels were, during the twenty-five hours ending yesterday evening, twelve hundred thirty-four and a half cords.

FOOT RACE.—James Logan accepts Thomas Osborn's challenge to run a foot race for fifty dollars, Mr. North, of the Amphitheatre, to make the arrangements.

SPECIAL TERM.—CIRCUIT COURT.—A special term of the Circuit Court of Cook county, for the trial of civil and criminal cases, has been ordered to be held on the fourth Thursday, being the 24th day of April 1856.

NEWS DEPOT.—Matthew Wallace, the proprietor of the News Depot, No. 25 Clark street, advertises a change in the style of the firm. This depot is a convenient place for the purchase of books and periodicals in this line, and the new proprietors are enterprising and deserving young men. See advertisement.

NEW HAT AND CAP STORE.—We notice that our friends Messrs. Loomis & Brewster are fitting up a very neat and handsome Hat, Cap and Fur store at No. 167 Randolph street, near Clark. They will open this store for the sale of goods on Saturday next. Both these gentlemen are practical hatters and fully understand their business. As they will keep a full assortment of the best and most fashionable goods in their line, our readers will do well to give them a call.

WALTER AVERY, Real Estate Agent, has removed from his old stand to 92 Dearborn street, opposite the Post-Office. Mr. A. is one of the most trustworthy and oil-useful agents for house and store hunting and collecting rents, in this city, and as such we commend him to those having business of his line.

LAND WARRANTS.—The Council Bluffs Chronicle says, "Land Warrants in this city seem to have reached their lowest point of depression, and are rapidly worth but little, if any, more than in New York city. Indeed, we have heard of sales, being made the past week, at New York prices. They cannot be used in the Land Office with anything like the readiness with which they are received and this accounts for their depression."

UNPAID LETTERS.—Unpaid letters were deposited in the Chicago Post Office on the 5th and 6th inst., as follows:

Jno. J. Matteson, Springfield, Ill.; Messrs Wilcox & Miller, Belvidere, Ill.; Boardman & Gray, Albany, N Y; T. & H.
